Executive Summary

The European Commission has undoubtedly paid special attention to the funding for SMEs under the Seventh Framework Programme (FP7) so far, and intends to continue to do so. In addition to the SME-specific measures under the Capacity programme (through the scheme Research for the benefit of SMEs), the Decision establishing FP7¹ as a matter of fact provides for a target of at least 15% of the funding of the Cooperation programme to go to SMEs.

The aim of the SME progress reports is to monitor the participation of SMEs in the Cooperation Programme within FP7. This ninth SME progress report analyses SME participation in grant agreements that have been signed up to the end of September 2012.

In the previous report – the eighth SME progress report published in January 2012 – it was reported for the first time that the 15% target had been reached with 15.2% of the total Cooperation Programme used budget going to SMEs. This figure has further increased, to an extent that today the percentage of used Cooperation programme budget going to SMEs has reached 16.3%, which represents about 3 Billion Euros total.

The graph below shows the overall percentage of the EU contribution going to SMEs and the percentage for each of the ten themes under the Cooperation programme.

Graph 1: Share of EU contribution going to SMEs, for each theme within the Cooperation programme (2007-2012). Based on Grant agreements signed up to 30 September 2012

HEALTH	Health research	ENV	Environment research (including climate change)
KBBE	Food, agriculture, fisheries and biotechnology	TPT	Transport research (including aeronautics)
ICT	Information and communication technologies	SSH	Socio-economic sciences and humanities research
NMP	Nanosciences, nanotechnologies, materials and production technologies	SPA	Space research
ENERGY	Energy research	SEC	Security research

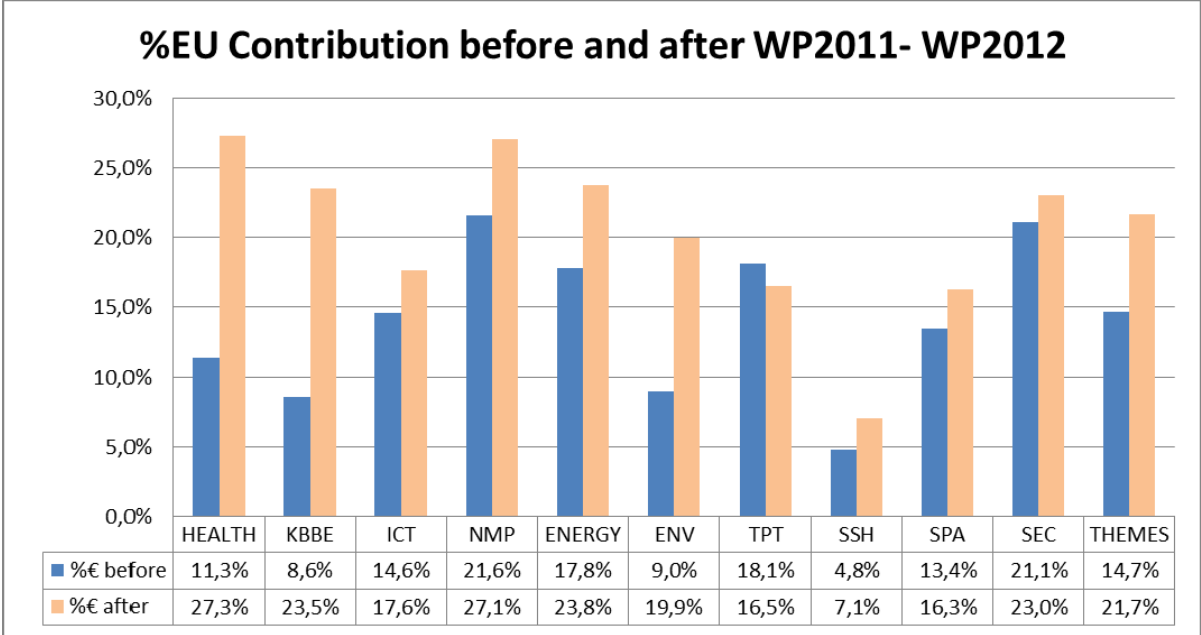

¹ "Decision no 1982/2006/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 18 December 2006 concerning the Seventh Framework Programme of the European Community for Research, Technological Development and Demonstration activities (2007-2013)" – Annex I, I. Cooperation

By the end of September 2012, SMEs made up 18.5% of all participations on the Cooperation programme, as will be detailed in Chapter 2 of this report.

This report also provides in-depth statistics about the composition of project consortia: 74.5% of all the grant agreements involve at least one SME and 11.1% of all the projects have an SME as its coordinator. The average EU contribution going to SMEs participating in thematic research projects so far has been about €275000 per project.

When looking at FP7 in its entirety – including Research for the Benefit of SMEs and the Marie-Curie Actions – the conclusion is that of the about 91000 participations, 16000 are SMEs, receiving an average EU contribution of €253000. The SME participations represent 10807 individual SMEs out of the 27549 individual organisations participating in FP7.

Graph 2 below shows the difference in terms of the proportion of the EU contribution going to SMEs during the periods before and after the implementation of the work programme for 2011. The increase of the budget going to SMEs through calls issued under the work programmes for 2011 and 2012 has been significant.

Graph 2: Comparison of the share of the EU contribution going to SMEs, for each theme within the Cooperation programme, before and after the implementation of the work programmes for 2011-2012

This trend can be attributed to the increase and strengthening of measures in favour of SMEs under the two most recent work programmes, and is particularly visible for the themes HEALTH, KBBE, ENV and SSH. SME-specific measures taken range from the selection of topics of particular relevance to SMEs to calls ring-fencing specific SME budgets; another measure specifies the requirement for project participation that an SME must be the overall coordinator. These statistics suggest that SMEs have responded very positively to these specific measures, and have considerably stepped up their participation in projects as a result.

Chapter 1. Key Figures on SME participation in FP7

Overview of FP7

FP7 has five specific programmes. The table below summarises the SME-related key figures for the entire framework programme and for each of these specific programmes.

Table 1: Key figures for SME participation in the five specific programmes of FP7 for research (in grant agreements signed by 30 September 2012).

(°) Besides the thematic priorities (themes) this figure also includes the grants to ESA, the Joint Technology Initiatives (JTIs) and the General Activities such as the CORDIS services, the horizontal ERA-NET scheme, Research organisations in the EU, Strengthened coordination with EUREKA, Scientific and technological cooperation activities carried out in COST, the European Metrology Research Programme.

(°°) 27549 organisations participate in FP7 (over the five specific programmes): the sum of the individual participations in each of the specific programmes is 27951, but around 402 organisations participate in more than one specific programme.

As expected, the Capacity programme – with its SME-specific measures under Research for the Benefit of SMEs – devotes the highest percentage of its EU contribution to SMEs (31.3%), i.e. no less than €870 million in monetary terms.

The highest EU contribution in funding provided for SMEs under FP7 however (i.e. about €3 billion) is in the Cooperation programme, which devotes 16.3% of its overall budget to SMEs.

The EU contribution to SMEs under the People programme can mainly be attributed to the IAPP and the IAT programmes, which include specific measures meeting SME needs. For this reason, the data contained in Chapter 13 focus exclusively on those two programmes.

Chapter 2. SME Participation in the Cooperation Programme (Themes)

The table below provides an overview of SME participation by theme, in terms of EU contribution and in terms of SME participation, both in values and in percentages.

The percentage of EU contribution going to SMEs out of the total contribution is highest for the NMP theme (22.7%), followed by SEC and ENERGY. However, it is the ICT theme, which ranks only fifth with its 15.2%, which provides the largest monetary EU contribution to SMEs, with over €830 million, followed by Health and NMP.

The percentage of SMEs participating is highest for the NMP theme (26.9%), followed by TPT and SEC. However in terms of number of enterprises, the highest is once again the ICT theme – more than 2800 SMEs participating – followed by NMP and TPT. Graphs 3 and 4 provide further illustrations of these figures.

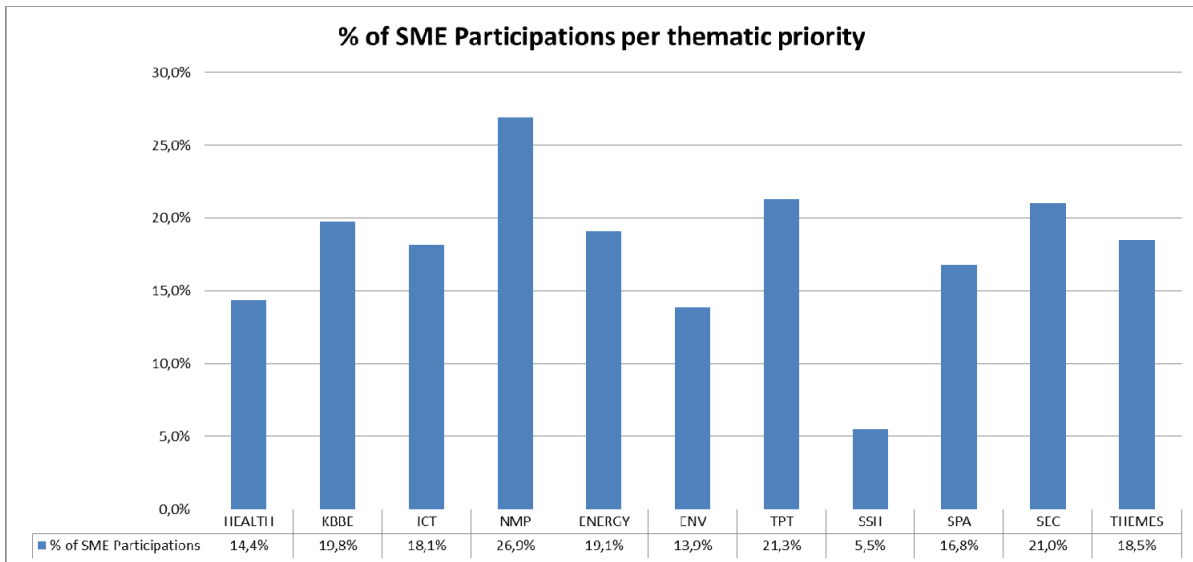

Health and SEC are the only themes where SME participants receive on average more than any other participants, while it is within the KBBE theme that the average number of SMEs per consortia is the highest, which can be explained in part because the consortia under this theme are also the largest on average (see Graph 10 below).

SMEs represent 18.5% of all participants in the Cooperation programme

The graph below displays the data contained in table 2 (above) graphically. With its higher budget, ICT attracts the highest number of SMEs, but it is NMP which dedicates the highest percentage of its budget to the support of SMEs.

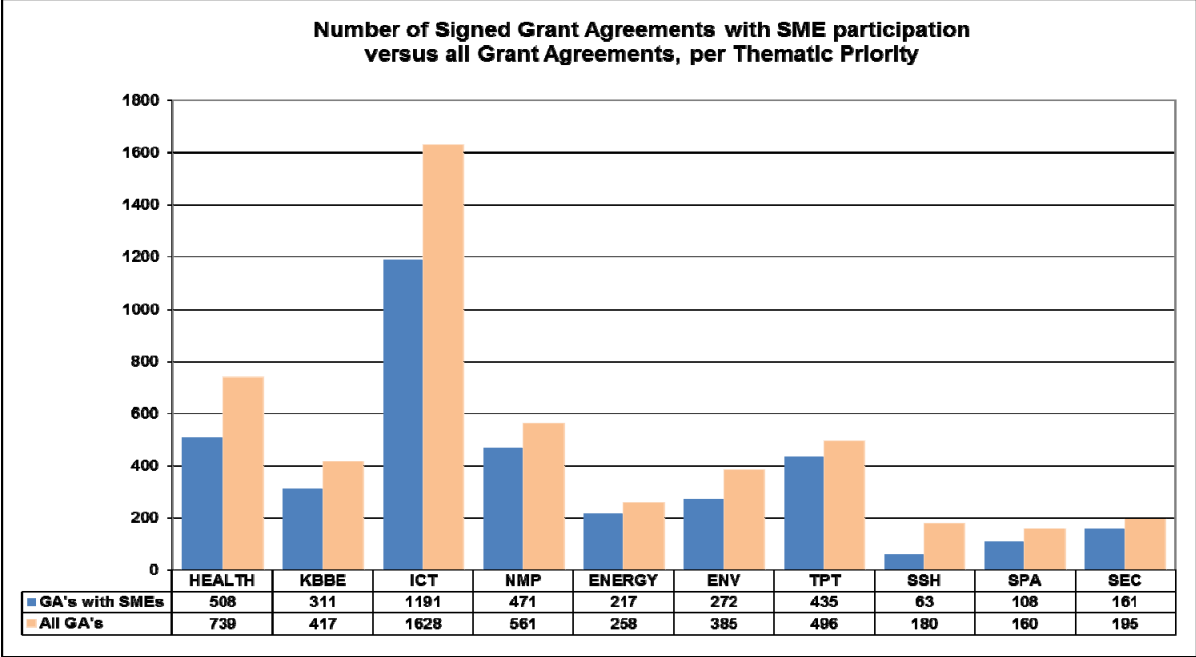

Graph 3: SME participations by theme

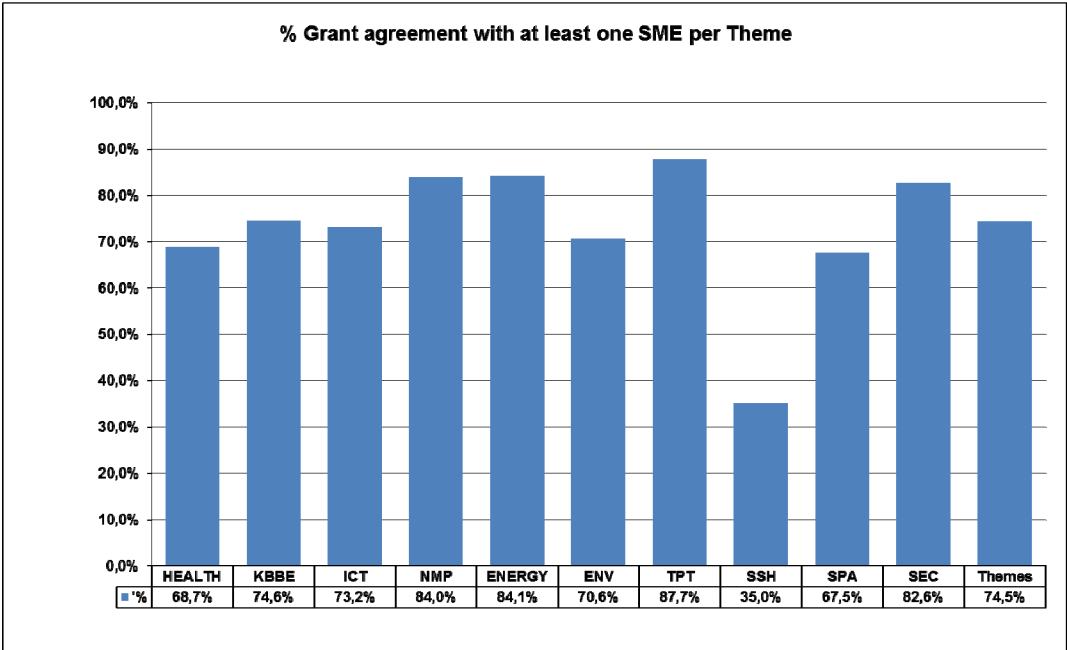

Graph 4: Participations by theme – SMEs versus all – in percentages

74.5 % of all signed grant agreements involve at least one SME

The most recent statistical analysis demonstrates that SMEs are fairly well represented in the consortia that have signed grant agreements with the European Commission under the Cooperation programme. While the ICT theme – which in terms of value counts the highest number of SMEs as project partners under the more than 1100 grant agreements signed – seems to stand out as particularly SME-friendly, the conclusion is that actually all themes – with the exception of SSH – have high SME participation, as 67 to 87% of the consortia involved have at least one SME partner, with the TPT thematic priority displaying the highest percentage (87.7%).

Not the 'usual suspects': good turnover of participating SMEs

The recurrence rate of an organisation is the average number of projects in which an organisation participates.

Recurrence within the Thematic Programmes

The thematic programmes have about

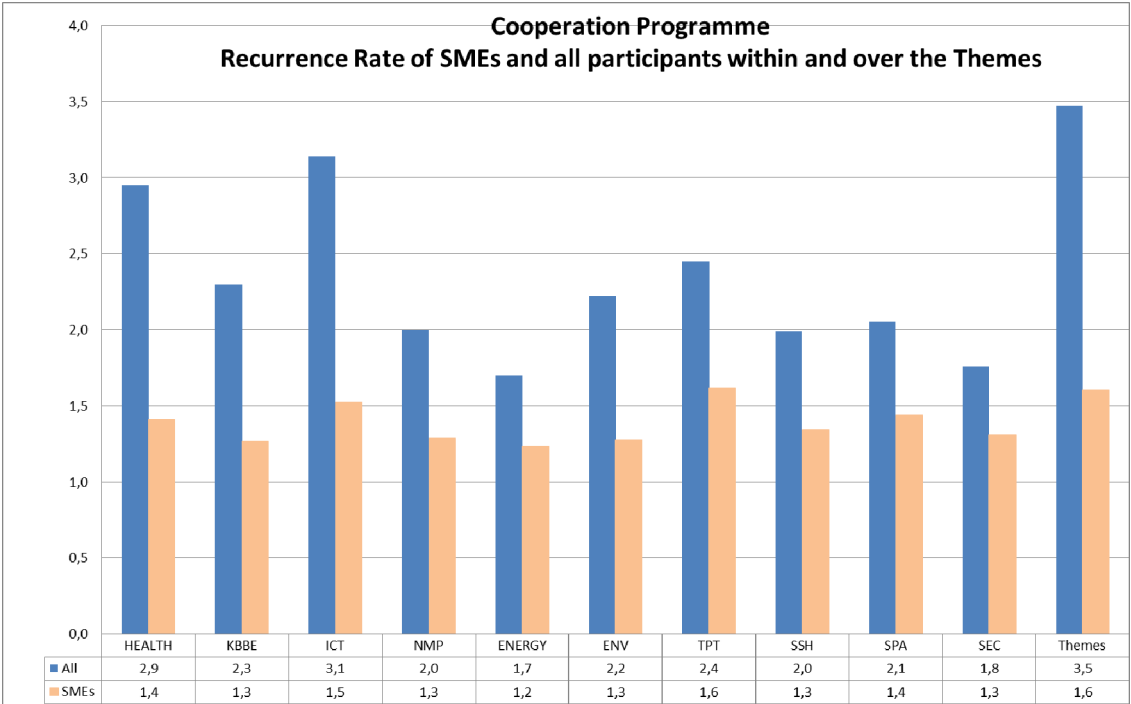

- 57462 participations
- 16558 organisations (individual participants)
- 10644 SME participations
- 6641 individual SMEs

SMEs

SMEs often participate in more than one research project. On average, within the same theme, an SME participates in 1.4 projects. There are also SMEs which participate in projects of different themes. Overall, the global 'recurrence rate' of SMEs in the Cooperation programme (over the ten themes) is 1.6. This means that, on average, an SME participates in 1.6 projects.

All organisations

On average an organisation involved in the Cooperation programme participates in 2.2 projects. Organisations regularly are active in more than one theme (e.g. universities); on average a participating organisation is involved in 3.5 grant agreements within the Cooperation programme.

Graph 7: Recurrence rate of SMEs and all participants within and over the Themes (Cooperation Programme)

Recurrence within all Specific Programmes of FP7

The five Specific Programmes have about

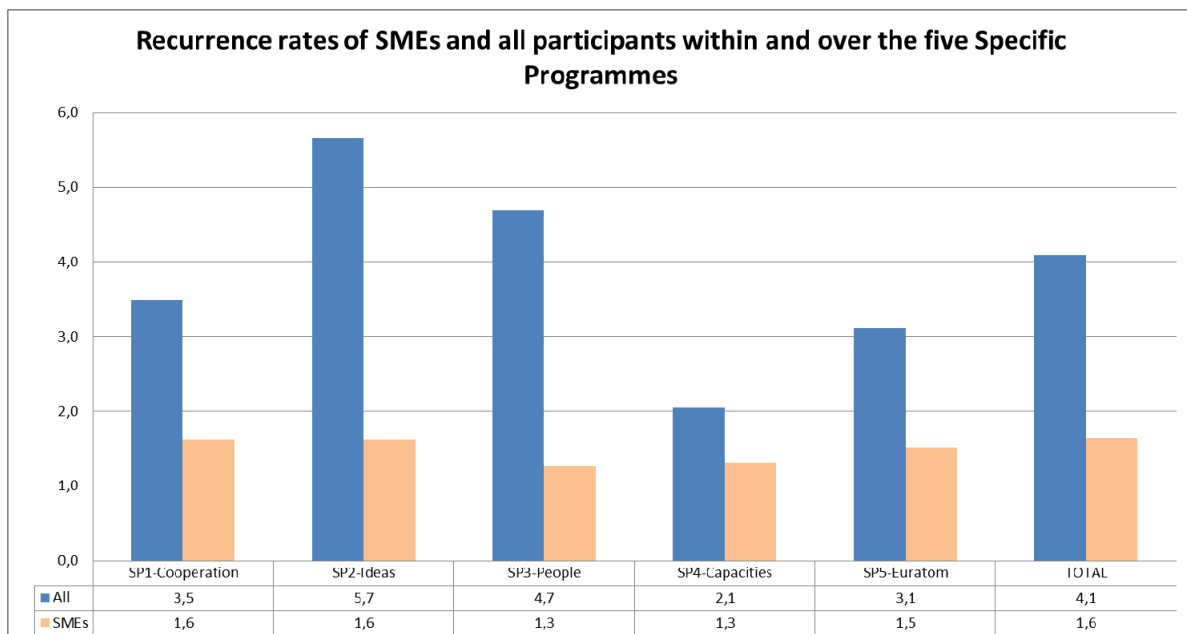

- 91163 participations
- 22268 organisations (individual participants)
- 16339 SME participations
- 9903 individual SMEs

SMEs

On average, SMEs involved in FP7 participate in 1.6 Grant Agreements.

All organisations

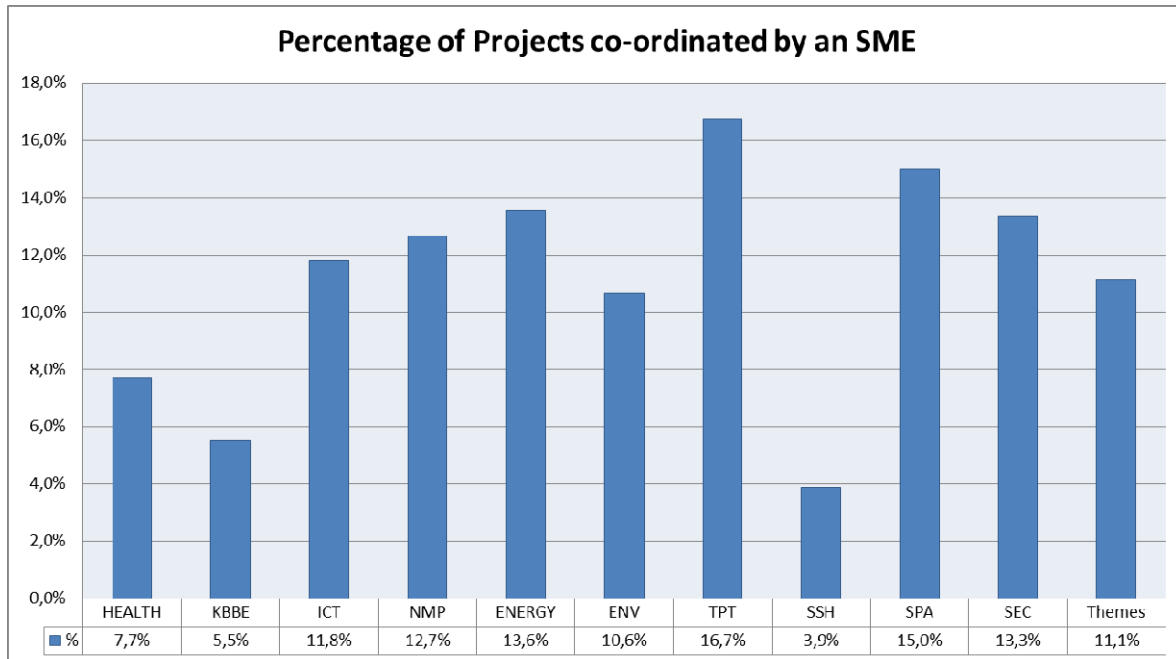

Over the whole of FP7, an organisation participates on average in 4.1 grant agreements.

Graph 8: Recurrence rate of SMEs and all participants to the FP7 Specific Programmes

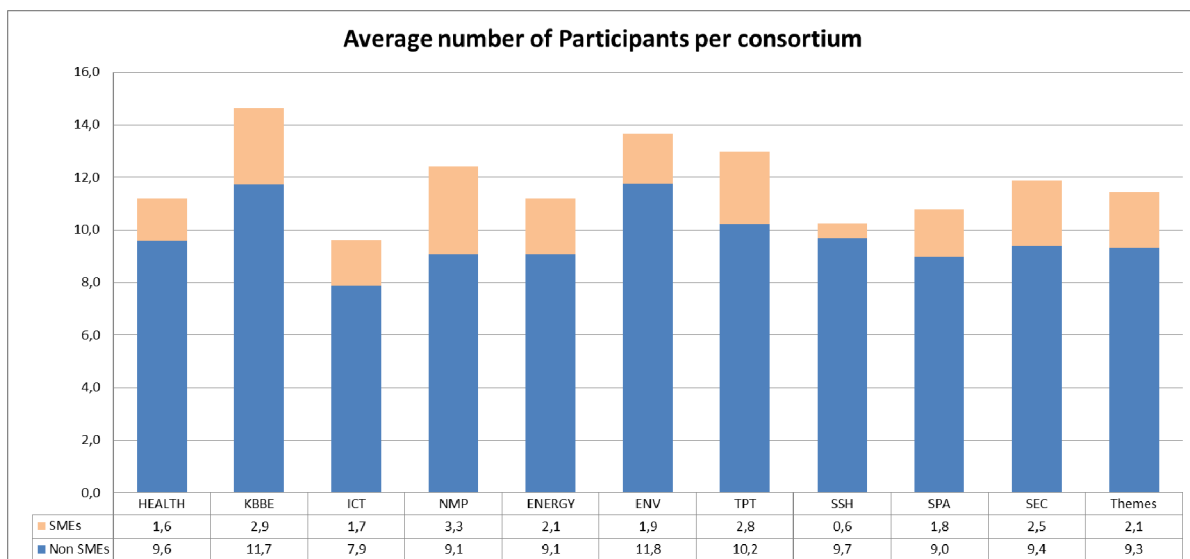

11.1% of the FP7 projects are coordinated by an SME

There has been a significant increase in the percentage of SME coordinators since the last report, with the percentage of SMEs coordinators going from 10% in January 2012 up to 11.1% by the end of September 2012.

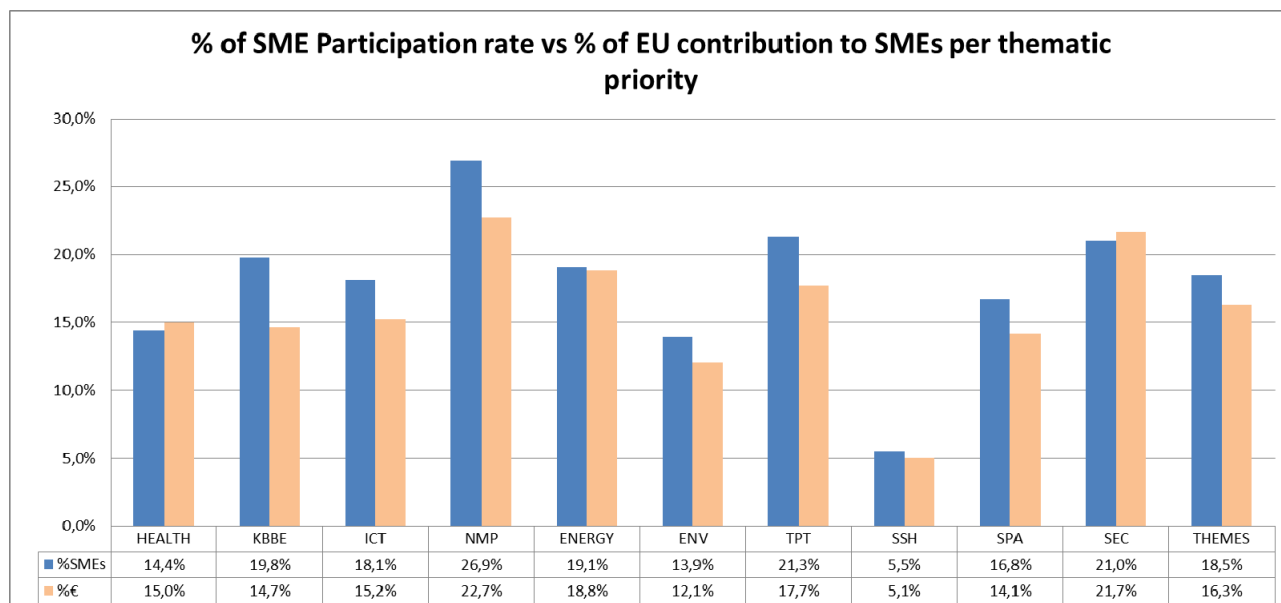

Graph 9: Projects coordinated by an SME, expressed as a percentage of the total number of projects

2 out of the average 11.4 partners of project consortia are SMEs

Graph 10: Average number of participants per project by theme – SMEs versus all

The NMP thematic priority draws most SME participation and devotes relatively the most of its budget to SMEs

Graph 11: SME Participation rate versus EU Contribution rate to SMEs (30 September 2012)

While illustrating that SME participation to a project in relative terms translates into higher EU contributions, the graph also provides an indication of the average amount of money received by the SMEs under the different themes: the higher the difference between the two percentages, the lower the average contribution received by each SME (KBBE, NMP, TPT). Only in two themes (Health and SEC) is the percentage of EU contribution going to SMEs higher than the share of participating SMEs.

SME participation and EU Contribution per Country

Tables 3 to 6 below show the SME share of the EU Contribution in terms of value and as a percentage of the total, and the percentage of SME participation per country for all Member States and FP7 associated countries.

These country statistics, which had already been included in the previous report, reflect a specific request from the Member States. They enable each Member State to distil the relevant information on the participation of its own organisations/SMEs in the framework programme.

Since many country-specific factors have an impact on the participation of organisations/SMEs to the framework programme (for instance the number of SMEs, the size of the university population, the availability of other national or international funding opportunities in each country and in specific periods of time, and the number of overall applications), it makes little sense to compare between countries.

The analysis of the specific factors and the influence they have on the reported figures are issues that go well beyond the scope of this report.
