

Call For Papers

The second International scientific professional Conference on Education for Entrepreneurship ICEL2 will be held on 28th June 2012, in Novi Sad in Serbia, and it will be organized by the Faculty of Technology in Novi Sad, Faculty of Economics and Engineering Management in Novi Sad and University College of Economics, Entrepreneurship and Management "Nikola Subic Zrinski" in Zagreb.

The name of the conference is "Learning for Entrepreneurship - An Initiative in Creating New Values", and it will bring together the key players in the field of entrepreneurial education in Serbia and Croatia, the region and the European Union, the decision makers at all levels, educators, teachers, academics and representatives from the business world.

The objectives of the conference:

- to increase public awareness of lifelong learning for entrepreneurship in the economic, social and ecological environment, as a generator for creating new values, with an emphasis on corporate social responsibility and sustainable development,
- to encourage cooperation in the international and interdisciplinary sense by gathering together experts from science and practice,
- to encourage the exchange of experiences, the development of active methods of teaching and learning, and the establishment of companies under the same circumstances.

Topics:

1. Lifelong Learning for Entrepreneurship - When and how?
2. Knowledge and skills necessary for a modern entrepreneur
3. Active methods of teaching and learning
4. Career management - Entrepreneurial competence
5. Entrepreneurship - Corporate Social Responsibility
6. Entrepreneurship - Examples of good practice

We kindly ask authors to pay special attention to the issues of environmental and "green technology", agriculture, tourism, manufacturing, processing and export in their papers, in the framework of thematic units.
